

A Brief Introduction to ERRC

After years of isolation, China has adopted sweeping social and economic reforms. China's people want to learn professional and technical knowledge, and to understand the West's cultural and spiritual underpinning. In the 21st century, China's vast social, political and economic changes have accelerated the hunger of intellectuals in China to dialogue with the West.

Chinese intellectuals, however, have been deeply rooted in the Confucian worldview, saturated with humanistic values and burdened by the history of negative encounters with Western Christian nations in modern history. For these reasons, dialogue between the Chinese worldview and the Judeo-Christian worldview has been and continues to be a great challenge. ERRC's ministry in China is primarily about opening doors for such a discussion. We invite you to partner with ERRC as we discern God's calling for Christian ministry in China.
